RUSSIAN DESTROYERS CAPTURED.

Japanese Cleverly Outwit the Russians and Capture Four Torpedo Boat Destroyers.

RUSSIANS MAKING HARBIN THEIR HEADQUARTERS.

Russians Parade Children Through the Streets as Prisoners of War. Chinese Bandits are Planning Guerilla Warfare in Northern Manchuria. The Russian Cavalry is Steadily Advancing. Russia Seeking a Pretext for Trouble with China.

German Ship Fired On.

Chefoo, February 22.—The Pronto was sent from Port Arthur to Dalny for refugees and chiefly Japanese women. While leaving Port Arthur with all lights out, she was fired upon by a Russian cruiser. Her shots struck her upper works. It was subsequently explained that she was mistaken for a Japanese torpedo boat. The entrance to Dalny is honeycombed with mines. Nothing was seen on the passage to this port of either the Russian or Japanese fleet.

The Railway Secure.

St. Petersburg, February 22.—A despatch from Harbin dated February 20, says, "the Railway is in working order again and the Japs who contemplated to blow up the bridge over the Sungari River have been hanged. Bands of Bandits have been observed under Japanese leadership, and are being pursued. Almost all the civil inhabitants of Harbin have left and the remainder of the population is quiet. The movements of troops is causing heavy traffic on the Railroad. The Chinese laborers returned to work after their New Year celebration.

Attack on United States Consulate.

Vienna, February 22. The police with difficulty yesterday prevented an attack on the United States consulate at Prague by a mob of several thousands Czechs who were cheering for Russia and the Czar. The mobs enmity was directed against the consulate by yells, "Down with the United States the friend of Japan."

Sultan Leans Toward Russia.

Vienna, February 22. According to the newspaper Politische correspondent the Sultan highly disapproved of the pleasure shown in Constantinople over Japan's success. The Sultan has issued strict orders from the Palace that the Turkish press must maintain an impartial reserve.

Russia Seeks Sympathy.

St. Petersburg, February 22. The Navoe Viemya commenting upon the report of M. Pauloff who was Russian Minister at Seoul of the fight at Chemulpo declares that the Japanese action there takes her from the list of civilized powers and predicts a revival of European solidarity against the wild Asiatic enemy."

British Steamer Captured.

London, February 22. The owners of the British steamer Rosalie from Cardiff Nov. 22 for Vladivostok and which sailed from Nagasaki January 18th, has been notified that she has been captured by the Russians at Vladivostok.

Another Attack on Port Arthur.

Tokio, February 22. It is reported here that Viceroy Admiral Togo has again attacked Port Arthur. It is impossible to confirm the statement but the navy department says it has had no news from Togo to-day. It is considered very probable that the Vice Admiral has made another attack on the Russians as he is engaged in blockading Port Arthur.

Four Destroyers Captured

Nagasaki, February 23.—Four Russian Torpedo boat destroyers have been captured at Port Arthur by the Japanese squadron and their crews have been transferred. Russian signals were again used with success.

London, February 23.—The Nagasaki correspondent of the Daily Telegraph under date of February 22nd, reports that the Japanese squadron have captured four Russian Torpedo boats at Port Arthur by means of using Russian signals. The despatch appears to confirm reports from various quarters of a fresh attack on Port Arthur by the Japanese.

Headquarters at Harbin

Yang Kow, February 23.—Viceroy Alexieff and his full staff have just arrived at Harbin where the headquarters have been established.

Russian Brutality

Nagasaki, February 23.—The four Russian cruisers which went out to bombard Hakodate were prevented from doing so by a storm. They returned to Vladivostok on February 12, bringing with them forty two men women and children from the small Japanese steamer which they sunk. Two of the crew were drowned. The captives including the women and children were paraded on February 17th through the streets as prisoners of war. The cruisers are refitting to sail forth again with five torpedo boats and the Transport Lena, formerly the Moscow to attack Hakodate.

All Business Abandoned

Chefoo, February 23.—The Chinese report that five Japanese warships off New Chwang. The German steamer Pronto arrived today bringing the last batch of 300 Japanese refugees from Dalny and Manchuria. They report everything quiet but business is absolutely abandoned. The governor of Dalny probably will join the Viceroy and remove to Mukden. Incoming vessels report having met a part of the Japanese fleet cruising in the Gulf of Pe Chi Li.

Work For Chinese Bandits

Shanghai, February 23. An official telegram from Tokiostates that the Russian cavalry has appeared in the vicinity of Anju in Northern Corea. The Chinese officials at Mukden report that the bands of mounted bandits in Manchuria have been organized into subdivisions. Their object will be to destroy the railway sever telegraph lines and cut off stragglers, and supplies until the Japanese come when they will ask for enrollment in the Japanese Army.

Russia Seeking a Pretext

The gun boat Madjur has not yet moved out into the River and the Chinese hesitate to employ force fearing Russian designs to use their action as a pretext to impugn Chinese neutrality.

Russian Cavalry Advancing

New York, February 23.—The Son's Tokio Cable says, "Russian scouts are steadily advancing from Yalu River and six hundred have reached Sinchin. The Empress has aroused popular enthusiasm by insisting that the body guard be reduced and ordering the officers to join their division.

TEUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23RD.

STREET RAILWAY MEETING

There was a large gathering in the Grand Hall last night to discuss the street railway agreement entered into by the town. Fully five hundred people were present. The seats were all occupied and a very large number stood. Councillor Goshing, acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Short, was chairman. On the platform were Councillors, Fraser, Picard, Grieson and May; town solicitor N. D. Beck and the solicitor of the street railway company Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. Beck read the provisional agreement between the town and the street railway company. Many of those present had copies of the agreement as it appeared in print on Saturday evening. He expressed his opinion in favor of the agreement. The town was not in favor of municipal ownership of the street railway, therefore arrangements must be made with a company if the charter was to be operated. The objections urged to this agreement might be urged to any agreement. The franchise held by the town for a radial system was not of serious value as a company could secure similar powers at any time from the Territorial Assembly if not from parliament. Mr. Beck concluded by moving a resolution endorsing the agreement.

C. de W. Macdonald, objected strongly to the agreement, the clause permitting the company to sell out to the C. & E. but not to any other company, was evidence that the CPR was at its back and the CPR was no friend of Edmonton. The company could hold the charter without building a foot of line until 1910 by forfeiting $33,000, and so block all other like projects. He moved an amendment declaring the agreement imprudent and such as should not be entered into.

Mr. Kennedy went into the history of the dealings of the company with the council for the agreement. The council had given the matter most careful attention. The agreement embodied the best features of those of the principal cities of Canada, including Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg. Construction of the two miles of railway within the next 13 months would mean a large expenditure of money, some $200,000 which would help tide over possible dull times.

Mr. Beck replying to Mr. Macdonald said that the street railway company could not sell out to the C. & E. without the consent of the town council.

C. W. Cross said that although the people might not be in favor of municipal ownership just now he looked forward confidently to a time when municipal ownership would be desirable. It would be wrong to do now what would prejudice municipal ownership in the future. The provision permitting suburban electric railways to run over its street system, on its coming to the town would render the town's franchise of little value, inasmuch as their tracks would be at the service of their competitors. Toronto was fighting Mackenzie & Mann who own both the city and suburban systems there, every day on that point. He did not believe it was so easy as Mr. Beck had said to get a suburban charter. Last session the town asked parliament for an extension of this very charter but did not get it. There were details of the charter that certainly should have been amended before being copied for other charters.

The provisions regarding the heating and lighting of cars was copied from Toronto. But Toronto has never yet been able to secure proper heating and lighting of cars because no penalty had been provided. There was no restriction on the running of freight cars on the streets nor on the placing of wires for the transmission of power. He looked to the council to see that the agreement was not signed without having first been submitted to the vote of the people.

W. A. Griesbach favored a policy of municipal ownership as far as possible. The town had to pay 5 per cent on the company's deposit of $25,000. That would mean that the first year's forfeiture would cost the company $3,750 besides interest on their money instead of $5,000, and succeeding years in proportion. If we could not get a better agreement than this we should wait for municipal ownership.

J. C. F. Bawn spoke on behalf of his law partner Mr. Kennedy, in favor of the agreement, said that the fear of the CPR had no foundation. The rights of the city in regard to control of traffic, laying wires, for power service etc., were effectively safeguarded, and were under control of the city engineer, under the agreement the town was getting all the advantages of municipal ownership without paying for it.

W. J. Webster wanted to know who the company were. He had not yet heard. A town did not live from itself. The progress of the town did not come so much by the conveniences secured by the citizens as by the trade which it built up. The town needed rail-ways to bring traffic to it much more than in needed street rail-ways to carry people from one place to another within it.

The cost of the proposed work might be $200,000, but how much of that would Edmonton get. The rails and wires were the chief cost and the town got nothing from them except the teaming from the station. The grading, ties, rails and poles of two miles of railway was a very small affair. He gave figures as to the number of ties, poles, etc., and the cost of grading and tracklaying. He advocated a vote of the ratepayers to decide on the agreement.

J. R. Boyle looked on the agree-ment as an option taken by the company on the future of the town. At present the prospects of having a good sized city here within six or seven years was very good. For the sake of controlling the valuable street and suburban franchise held by the town at that time the company was willing to risk $25,000. Mr. Tretheway in writing of the charter had said that the company would lose money in operating the road for the first few years. How much would they lose. If they would lose more than $5,000 a year they had better pay the forfeit, than operate the road, and the agree-ment left them in a position to do so. At present there was no urgent need of a street railway. When the need became urgent the town could handle the matter itself. If the company meant business they would have agreed to forfeit the charter at the end of one or two years, if the road was not completed.

A. E. Voyer supported the agree-ment. Those who were opposing it were acting from personally in-terested motives. He wanted to see the town go ahead.

Dr. McInnis did not want to part with a charter whose value was being enhanced every day. The $25,000 forfeit did not amount to anything in proportion to the value of the charter. There were no proper regulation of rates. Arbitration was no good. The town should control its own rail-ways and the rates over it.

Donald Ross supported the agreement. He considered that those who were opposing it were acting the "dog in the manger." It was a case of the best end against the west end.

Mr. Dawson supported the agreement. The town needed out-side capital and outside enterprise. The agreement was objected on the ground that the scheme would open up the Groat estate. How would that injure Edmonton? Would it not rather build it up. The C.P.R. had attempted to build a rival town at Stratheona. How had that injured Edmonton? Would not Edmonton be alive if Stratheona were wiped out. He had come west to get into a pro-gressive place but he found a good many in Edmonton who were opposed to progress if it did not directly serve their ends.

Councillor May said the Council had considered the matter care-fully and it had his support.

Councillor Grierson said that the Council had agreed provision-ally to the agreement. They had agreed to have it submitted to the public meeting. Personally he concluded that the charter should be forfeited at the end of fifteen months if the two miles of railway were not completed. The only object in entering into the agree-ment was to get quick construction, without that there was no object in going into the agreement.

H. Baker was strongly in favor of the agreement. The question should be left to the council. He wished to see the town progress. Those opposing the agreement were holding the town back.

Frank Oliver, M. P., was called on. He supported the amend-ment to the amendment. The council could not give effect to the agreement without sanction either from the ratepayers or from the Assembly at Regina. The sanc-tion should come from the rate-payers who were interested, not from the Assembly which was not interested.

The amendment to the amend-ment was put and carried by a large majority, and the people be-gan to disperse. The chairman, notwithstanding the objections of the mover, then put the amend-ment which was declared lost. He then put the original motion in favor of the agreement which was lost on much the same vote as carried the amendment to the amendment.

Its Insurance Lesson to the Public.

This great disaster proves to the public that in order to have real insurance they should deal with companies whose assets are such as to enable them to meet and de-fund and whose past record shows that they have both the will and the capacity to pay their losses, however great.

The HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE CO., following the method adopted by them in all confagurations during the past century, have its representatives already adjusting and paying the losses of $750,000 incurred at Baltimore. The great assets over $14,000,000, of the Hartford, and its record, are an absolute guarantee of its ability to meet any emergency. The income of this Company in 1903 exceeded Ten Mil-lion ($10,000,000) Dollars from fire premiums alone.

A SOCIAL EVENING

The social given by the young people of the congregation of the Edmonton Presbyterian church last night was very largely attended. The aim of the committee was to promote sociability among the young people. A guessing contest occupied the first hour; at the end of which Miss Gerty Jidbury was awarded the ladies' prize, while Mr. Bisset won the gentlemen's prize.

Refreshments were then served, after which the following short programme was rendered: Piano solo, Miss Alice McDougall; Vocal solo, Miss Webster; Vocal solo, G. C. Lomas; Recitation, Mr. Gibson; Vocal solo, Miss Oliver; Vocal solo, G. C. Lomas. The entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem.

LOCAL

An adjourned meeting of the Edmonton city council will be held tomorrow evening.

Robert May has moved his coal office to that formerly occupied by Forbes and McDonald. The Alberta Mutual Fire Insurance Company have opened up offices in Mr. May's former apartments.

A hockey match will take place on Strathcona rink on Thursday evening of this week between the Edmonton and Strathcona senior hockey teams. This is the second game in the series for the Calgary-Brown cup.

A special meeting of the city council was held yesterday afternoon. The councillors were all present with the exception of councillor Ross. The only matter of business taken up was the question of opening the road for the additions to the Edmonton electric light plant. This was discussed and was finally postponed for one month.

A very amusing hockey match took place on Thistle rink last night between teams representing Picher's boarding house and the Jasper house. The latter won by a score of 4 to 2. This match was one of the most unique games played in the north this winter in that the crowd of spectators were kept convulsed with laughter from the start to the finish.

Free Press: Arrangements are being made by the Canadian Pacific railway to bring out 1000 English immigrants next summer to settle in the Saskatchewan district of the Northwest. The majority of them will likely sail from London May 1 and will take up homesteads in and around Lloydminster, in the northwest portion of the district and accessible either by way of Saskatoon or Edmonton.

Regina West: The weather for the past week has been quite severe, the thermometer registering as low as 47 degrees below zero. The worst weather that we have had this season visited us yesterday. A terrible blizzard such as we have not had for years, raged all day. A south easterly gale lifted the snow to such an extent that travelling on the prairie would be dangerous. It was almost impossible to get around on the streets. The teamsters did not make an appearance at all. It is to be hoped that the severe weather does not continue for there is almost a fuel famine in the city. This morning the merchants had not a bit of soft coal on hand. Nor yet is there very much hard coal in the city.
